Theodore Frelinghnysen.

The nomination of this distinguished son of New-Jersey (though now a citizen of New-York) for Vice President on the Whig ticket, is every where hailed with approbation. He was the last proposed of all the candidates for that high office, and very naturally not the first choice of a great number of the active politicians; but on a comparison of notes he appeared the second choice of almost every body, and the first of many thousands who usually stand aloof from Political contests, and would hardly have been other name. As an eminently just and true man, intimately connected with and ament in many THE Street Engineers of the City of Bangor of the Literary, Religious and Philanthropic have been directed to lay out a street from enterprises of our times, Mr Frimghuysen enjoys the esteem and admiration of thousands ponents have fairly opened upon him, as it is strength in his nomination. But Mr Frelinghuysen is not merely a wise, thing else but a Whig He was a Whig U. S. Senator from New-Jersey during nearly all Gen Jackson's Administration, and fought the battle of true Liberty against all his mad encroachments and tyrrany side by side with Clay, Websier, and Ewing, as ardently and fearlessly as any of them. He resisted the destruction of the Bank, the Removal of the Deposits, and all the evil measures which brought down general paralysis and bankruptey. He stood manfully for Clay and Sergeant in 1832, as he had before done for J. Q. Adams, and has since done for Harrison. In 1832, he was called on to address his fellow-citizens of Essex Co. N. J. in regard to ported summary of his remarks was so forcible that the Whigs of this city reprinted it as a little tract for general circulation We now insert it verbatim, as follows .- [New York Tribune

Mr. Frelinghuysen's Testimony to the

A meeting was recently held in Essex county, quent speech in favor of Mr Clay, which is thus pitomized in the Newark Daily Advertiser:

the open way to tame and honorable distinction, that the spirit of our happy Republic presented to all her sons-and he entered the lists of manly his integrity of purpose enterprise, and by the energy of his genius, and the force of his persevering efforts, rose to the very summits of official distinction | He enjoyretary of State, he has received unequivocal testimonials, that in public estimation, he was and enlightened people But more than thishas been often said of Mr Clay, that he wielded more influence than any man that ever occupied that chair What was it, sir, that gave hun such influence? It could not be mere sound-for let it be remembered, that no polit. in good humor the watchful old Thirteen! But cal body of men in any country, possess more of talent, intelligence and independence, than of heart, he indignantly repelled the unfounded ment His whole life has been a political schooling into its doctrines. His mind is imbued with the very spirit of republican liberty

Until the late struggle for the elevation of his talents, and none distrusted his uprightness As a Speaker of the House—as one of the representatives of his country, in the critical nego tiations with Great Britain, we can all remember how he was admired and esteemed said Mr F what has been his eftence? One thing, Mi Chairman, he could not do He could not proclaim General Jackson to be that which, in his conscience, he knew him not to be, enumently qualified for the high and difficult duties of President of these United States He dired to dispute and deny the pictensions of General Jackson, and for this he has been pursued and hunted, as if he had been a traitorous viper, and the presses of the opposition have been crowded with the most cruci and bitter imputations. Sir, these wrongs of Mr Clay form a string reason for your countenance -Let us raise a shield around this favored son of

Moreover, sir, said Mr F, t'e public conduct of Clay entitles him to our confidence. Recur for a moment to a few of his measures, and you will find in them all the since characteristic marks of a great mind looking with enlarged and Theral views, at their rel tions and results -Trace his course in the question of South Amer. ican Independence - when her patriots were struggling for that precious book which our taa pulse in American bosoms that beat high in sympathy for their cause-and he threw the whole weight of his character, and power of his talents, into their interests-and who can soon forget the responding plaudits that echoed from he mountains and plains of the South, in gratitude to this friend of freedom Sir, he loved liberty for its own sake-with the philanthropy of a great and generous mind, he hailed its aspirations, no matter where, or by whom, they were breathed forth Again-when the scheme of establishing a col ony for the liberated children of appressed Afri ca, on the shores of that benighted continent, was commended by the late and deeply lamentdrawn out to vote by the premaiation of any of Washington-you know, sir, how deeply it was denounced, as a visionary and Utopian enterprise. It was scouted as a brain sick chimera by the great mass of the American community. Not so by Mr Clay. His penetrating eye percerved, in this derided charity bearings of a large and hopeful character He saw what momen tous connexions it would hold with the deeply interesting subject of slavery here; and what full. evident they will. There are elements of great of degraded men in Africa. Sir, there was nothness of light it promised to shed on the millions ing about the project to engage or interests mere But Mr Frelinghuysen is not merely a wise, demagogue The venerated man who disclosed philanthropic, good man—he is a firm, decided, his views to Mr Clay was unknown to fame, and devoted Whig He is of an honored Revolu- his cherished object was almost universally riditionary Whig stock, and has never been any culed—and yet this great statesman, by an ardent consecration of his best efforts, vindicated its claims, and bore it in lofty tramph above and beyond all the obloquy and scorn that assailed

To come nearer home—consider the principles of Mr Clay's political conduct, in the protection of Domestic Industry. He had often heard British statesmen discourse most eloquently upon the beautiful theory of free trade; but when he looked into British statute books, he found a policy that restrained all commerce but that of their own goods in British bottoms. Our corn, wheat and flour, our fish and manufactures, were all excluded from their ports; and nothing was free the then Presidential contest, and the briefly re- but the products of their own industry. He readily perceived where such a state of things would lead us, and to raise us above a dependence upon the work shops of Europe; to encourage American industry and enterprise, he has fostered a system of measures that has hup. character and qualifications of Henry pily developed the great resources of the country, and greatly enlarged the means of rational enjoyment Where would Orange and Bloom-New Jersey, by the National Republican party, field, Belleville, Paterson, and Newark, now be at which Mr Frelinghuysen, the Senator from in the scale of prosperity, but for the unshrinkthat State, was present, and made a very clo- ing labors of this patron of the American system? Internal Improvement also claims Mr Clay for a steady friend. Some have hoped to decry Mr Frelinghuysen, in support of the nomina- ithis, as a point of vulnerable policy, and have extion of Clay to the office of Chief Magistrate, hibited what they decined a very startling picsaid that he was happy in the occasion that ena-bled him to hear his testimony to the fitness of these improvements. Now, Mr Chairman, in this eminent citizen for the station to which so the light of what Mr Clay regards as internal many voices were calling him. He was the improvements, this is about as wise as to object more gratified by this opportunity, because he against a telescope the length of its tube, or the had at one period entertained some doubts on cost of the brand. But he saw cursion-the fearless and monly frankness with which he met a crisis almost forced upon him, all tended to clench the confidence that he felt in -You will recollect, sir, said Mr F, that this was a duty altogether unsought by Mr Clay -He was a member of the Committee of Manufactures, and insisted that a reference of the in the Senate and House of Representatives of Public Lands to his committee, was not fir racof the United States—as a Minister abroad on a cording to parliamentary rules; the reference, most difficult and eventful embassy-and as Sec. however, was made, and Mr Clay was charged with a most difficult and delicate service. There stood the West, with extravagant calculations fitted to fill any civil station, in the gift of a free | many of her citizens had pursuaded themselves into the notion that this noble and public domain as Speaker of the House of Representatives, it belonged in exclusive property to the States in which it is situated. What a fine theme was here presented for an artiul and intriguing policy to manage to flatter and soothe the warmly cherished expectations of the West, and jet keep what did Mr Clay? From the Hartford (Conn) Courrant Important to Mariners.

The following letter from Dr. Fansher, to the President of the Royal Society of London, will attract the attention of Mariners. Since he has first published his discovery, he has contrived a simple apparatus for raising a tide in a tumbler without an electrical machine, and the tide is produced by the positive electrical fluid natural to the water, as in the ocean

Six-in performing an electrical experiment, some years ago, I noticed with surprise, a protuberance in the surface of a bowl of water; and hence took the hint that the cause of the Fides was to be accounted for on the doctrine of chectricity. Further experiments fully, in my opinion, justify the reasonableness of that hypothesis that the electrical fluid with which the whole circumlerence of our ocean is perpetually charged, attracts the heavanly bodies, and gives laws to the ebb and flow of the sea. But sir, whether mankind will reap any particular advant age from this discovery, or not, it has as I conceive onened the door to one of more impostance, and which may serve to obviate an evil that has ever been a desideratum with mariners

You must be aware, Sir, that voyagers have sometimes been unaccountably deceived in their reckonings at sea; and on taking an observation, to their astonishment, they have found the ship several leagues distant from that spot on the orean, where from their last observations and their log book calculations they had reason to expect; and chagrin, danger and sometimes censure and disaster has ensued. These facts are well known. Pardon my enthusiasm, Sir, if I say that attraction which occusions the Tides, to be wrapped in mystery, but that I have already telicitated myself on having developed the mysterious cause of some aberration in the undeviating laws of Nautical Science, happily called to exonerate the faithful mariner from unmented censure for a misfortune which hitherto no mortal man could forecast or anticipate. The secret is this viz that the attraction between the electricity of the sex and that of a thunder cloud, is capable of veering the ship impreceptably out of her proper course, especially when a thunder cloud, not within striking distance, shall linger long one one side of the vessel, thereby giving it two motions, shead and sideways

And Sir, why should it be thought strange for that amazing power that lifts a portion of the water of the Globe, which faces to the heavenly bodies in its rotary motion, thereby producing the flux and reflux, that electrical force which appears to reverse the laws of gravitation in water-spouls, that drives the tornado, that rears the stopendous moving pillars of sand from the earth to the clouds in the desert, capable also of attracting and varying a ship from its proper course in a thunder-storm, as it is well known by mariners that it is the case in water-spout operations

EXPERIMENT Float a ship in miniture, in a bowl of water, and give it headway, then as it moves present an electrified surface, representing the cloud to ward the side of the vessel, and it will have two inotions, head and broadside way-and the mys tery of the manner having been deceived in h s reckoning is explained

Was this docrtine fully believed by marine:

I have the honor to be your obedient servant, S FANSHER

N B A mariner saw my experiment with my ship in miniature in a bowl of wa er, ar d expressed his astonishment and declared at once "he had not a doubt of the truth of this theory; for be remarked, that his, and a number of ships were becalmed at a certain place up the Baltic, and at once the vessels were all on the move yet there was no wind or cuireit, and that the crews allhad to out boats and tow , to keep the ships off from the rocks S FARSHER

The Old Man's Story,

In No. 4 1 attempted to show who are injured by the vast amount of goods imported more than we export, and this can be shown in many ways, and to be able to understand how much we are injured by this excess of imports, it is necessary to take a view of what we should gain, provided we pursued a policy which would encourage manufacturing.

Suppose that at Levant, Dover, Foxcroft, Fuilford, Abbot, Sebec, Burlington, and many other places, a manufacturing policy was pursued, what would be the result?

But this is not all; their wood and timber will more than quadruple in value, and farming will become a source of profit, because there will be operatives who will consume a large amount of provisions, and at fair prices.

There is water power enough at Abbot to in manufacturing, and at every step the value of property would advance, farming business would become a lucrative business, the science of farming improved, the cause of education improved, and moral and intellectual improve-

I cannot go into all the advantages to be derived by this course of business, but merely to wealth that are in their immediate neighborhood. A protective tariff, if permanent, is sure to bring about the state of things I have supposed might take place in Abbot, or any other place where there is a good water power

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, May 15. In the Senate, after the reading of the Journal, the calendar of private bills was taken up, and several were read the first and second time; which was all the business done at the time our paper went to press.

A large number of reports were made from the several standing committees and appropri ately referred, among which was one from the Committee of Ways and Means, accompanied with a bill making an appropriation for the adjustment of Virginia land claims; also one from the Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads, regulating the rates of postage, &c. After the standing committees had been called through for Reports, Mr J. W. Brown moved to reconsider the vote by which the bill dividing the lands of the half-breed Indians of lowa was passed, and that the subject be postponed until tomorrow, which was agreed to.

Mr Weller offered a resolution, autho izing the Clerk to pay John M. Wirt $120, to defray his expenses incurred in consequence of having been shot whilst in the discharge of his duty s one of the police of the Capitol. It was read and passed unanimously. Mr Campbell of South Carolina, then moved that the House resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole on the state grocery of Fertig & Torrey, consuming a large of the Union, and Mr Hamlin demanded the amount of goods and merchandise of all kinds, yeas and nays, which were ordered, and the following is the result: Yeas 29, nays 112. So the House refused to go into a Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union. This was all the business done at the time our reporter left the House. [Madisonian.

J. J. JEROME, Next to the P. Office, Bangof. | Representation of the property of the proper shunning. I was induced to believe my case a hepeless one.

In August last, by the advice of friends, I went to the New York City Hospital, but was there told Patent Ground Saws. In August last, by the advice of friends, I went that my case was incurable. The disease now enveloped my whole body, rendering me almost helpless; the skin thickened and cracked, and blood and matter run, and life itself became almost a hurden. A few weeks since I was induced to use your Sarsaparilla by hearing it so highly recommended hav ing spent nearly $3,000 without obtaining but little relief. After using it a short time, I found myself better, and now, by using six or eight bottles, costing me less than ten dollars, I am well. Yes, I cer tily and declare to the world, that after spending near $3,000 in traveling and doctoring, and suffer ing more than can be told, I was perfectly cored by using your invaluable preparation of Sarsaparlila: and I now recommend it to all similarly afflicted. Those wishing to know further particulars will find me at my residence, No. 27 Warren street, New York, where I shall be happy to communicate any thing in relation to the above cure.

DR. TAYLOR'S BALSAM OF LIVER WORT. PRICE REDUCED DR. TAYLOR'S Balsam of Liverwort, from

375 Bowery, New York-ior the cure of Coughs, Colds, Catarrhs, Asthma, Soreness of the Chest, Pain in the side and Breast, raising of Blood, Liver complaint, Bronchitis, and all those affections of Throat and Lungs which are a source of so much suffering and unarrested, so often terminate in Consumption—this remedy is highly and justly distinguished. It is purely vegetable, mild and gentie in its effects upon the system, and can be taken in the most delicate cases, with safety as well as utility. Physicians, aware of its medicinal properties, and witnessing its effects even in exsciatica, or lumbago, and diseases freme and in some instances apparently almost hope arising from an injudicious use of the less cases, often prescribe it in their practice, both as a palliative and a remedy, and with the Medical Parlor Fire Stoves, of different sizes; an assortment Faculty generally it has met with great approba-

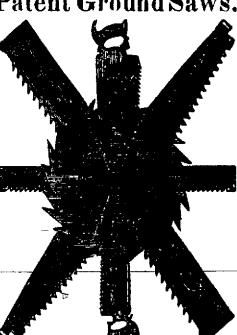

CONSUMPTION.—The following remarks were taken from the last number of the Medical Magazine: "The surprising effect produced by the genuine Dr. Taylor's Balsam of Liverwort, made at 375 Bowery, in consumptive cases, cannot fail exciting a deep and thrilling interest throughout the world. We have so long considered this disease (consump tion) incurable, that it is difficult to credit our senses when we see persons, evidently consumptive, restored to health. Yet it is a fact of daily occurrence.

Certificates from the highest and most respectaole sources, or persons who have been either greatly relieved by it, or entirely recovered from affections of the Lungs and Liver, could be furnished in abundance, but we insert only the following CERTIFICATE.

Liver Complaint and General Dibility. I was given up by two physicians, and told to prepare for death. I was so weak I could not raise my hand to my head. I was in this low state, when a friend sent me a bottle of Dr. Taylor's Balsam of Liverwort, from 375 Bowery, and before I had used up the bottle, I was able to sit up in bed. By the further use I have completely regained my health. GEO. WELLS, 23 John-st.

For a common cold and cough, this is one of the very best remedies ever discovered. N. B. There is a spurious and counterfeit arti-
